Gen. Yamashita Verdict Friday

War Crimes Trial At Manila Reaches Closing Argument Stage

START TRIAL IN FLYERS' BEHEADING

MANILA, Dec. 4.—(INS)—The war crimes trial of Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita was in recess today and interest in Manila switched to the trial of seven Japanese officers and men accused of beheading two American airmen.

The American airmen, Sgts. Paul Mansella and Harold Scott, were beheaded on Cebu Island last March 26.

Shifting Blame

The seven Japs on trial apparently were determined to accuse each other of the murders. Lt. Col. Isamu Morimoto, one of the defendants, testified today that his immediate subordinate, Capt. Kasatoro Tsuruyama was responsible for the executions.

Morimoto said that two other defendants—Warrant Officer Sei-jiro Sakai and Sgt. Takeo Kawada—actually yielded the beheading knives.

Final arguments in the Yamashita trial were to be heard tomorrow. Taking of testimony was completed Monday.

The five-man military commission hearing Yamashita's case was expected to announce a verdict Friday.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Dec. 4.—(INS)—Frederick E. Hauser, 19-year-old accused slayer from Monessen, was expected to plead guilty this afternoon to the charge he murdered Anna Elizabeth Drever, Fayette City "sensitive" girl.

Changing his plea from "not guilty" to "guilty" was announced after a conference between District Attorney H. Vance Cotton and Defense Attorney J. C. Glassburn and Paul K. McCormick.

The surprise move came after a venire had been nearly exhausted and a special panel was about to be called to select a jury that would try Hauser, who was charged with strangling the 18-year-old waitress and tossing her nude body into a clump of bushes.

Blame Shock For Death Of Woman

BELLEVILLE, Pa., Dec. 4.—(INS)—Shock was blamed today for the death of Mrs. Sara I. Brown, 44, of Milesburg, after she was frightened when an automobile driven by her husband skidded on a mountain highway near Lewisport.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown had been to Lewisport to bid farewell to their son enroute to his army station at Fort Totten, L. I.

Russia Rejects Iran Proposal For Withdrawal

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(INS)—The State department was confronted today with a new rebuff from Russia—the Soviet Union's rejection of a U. S. proposal for withdrawal of all Allied troops from Iran by January 1.

The American suggestion was submitted to Moscow and London 10 days ago on the basis of reports that Red army forces in northern Iran had interfered with Iranian troops sent to that area to put down armed uprisings.

Michael J. McDermott, special assistant to Secretary of State Byrnes, told reporters that the Soviet note said "they do not find it possible to accede to our request to withdraw troops by January 1."

McDermott made it clear, however, that this set-back in no way affected an Anglo-American-Soviet agreement for withdrawal of all their forces from Iran by March 2, 1946.

Byrnes' note to Russia suggested that the removal of Allied troops from Iran would be in line with the Roosevelt-Churchill-Stalin announcement following their Tehran conference that the three nations would respect the territorial integrity of Iran.

Sixty Veterans Will Aid Yule Mail Rush Here

Patrons Are Again Warned By Postmaster To Mail Early To Relieve Congestion

VOLUME IS NOW ON INCREASE HERE

Anticipating a huge volume of Christmas business, Postmaster William R. Hanna is getting prepared and has lined up sixty discharged veterans who, it is believed, will be able to handle the situation locally in splendid fashion.

This is part of the government's effort to assist the veterans in securing gainful employment, even though it is but temporary. All extra employees at this Christmas season will be honorably discharged veterans.

Urges Early Mailing

However, in order to relieve the eleventh hour rush, Postmaster Hanna urges all Lawrence county residents to do their mailing early, particularly parcel post packages.

All parcels going outside the county should be placed in the mails before December 10, and all parcel post to foreign countries should be mailed this week.

Parcel post packages to some of these foreign lands take a long time to handle, as there are so many regulations which must be met with forms to be signed, etc. that it takes about five minutes to handle one package. Unless these packages are mailed this week, the Postmaster will have to devote one window only for these and persons mailing them will have to stand in line and wait their turn, because they hold up the mailing of domestic parcel post material going to points in the United States or its possessions.

Buy Stamps Early

He also urges patrons to buy their stamps this week, and not to wait until the last minute. The stamp windows are not so busy now and persons who buy now will not have to stand in line and wait.

The placing of three-cent stamps on Christmas cards is urged, particularly if one is not certain of the address. This will give directors of service, and if the recipient has moved, the card will follow him and if a cheaper rate of postage is used these letters will be laid aside until after Christmas.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(INS)—Capt. Charles B. McVay III pleaded not guilty today when he was arraigned before a navy court martial board on charges of neglect and inefficiency in connection with the sinking of the cruiser Indianapolis in Pacific waters last July.

The prosecution then began the presentation of evidence in the first court martial of a high ranking naval officer of World War II.

The presentation was reportedly prepared to call up 15 officers and 20 enlisted men who were among the survivors when the warship was sunk off the Philippines with the loss of 880 men.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(INS)—Secretary of the Navy James Forrestal announced a sweeping shake-up today of the Navy's top command ashore and afloat and stressed the fact that aviators would be put in many key positions.

In his statement Forrestal said that three of the six key positions in the office of chief of naval operations would go to aviators. He also revealed:

1. Admiral John M. Towers, the Navy's number one aviator, will replace Admiral Raymond A. Spruance as commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet. No date was given for the change, and Spruance's new assignment was not revealed.

2. Vice-Admiral Marc A. Mitscher of Task Force 58 fame, "eventually" will be selected as deputy chief of naval operations for air to become commander of the Eighth fleet in the Atlantic. His successor was not named.

3. Vice-Admiral D. C. Ramsey, now deputy commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet, eventually will become vice-chief of naval operations. Ramsey is an aviator.

U. A. W. Leaders Denounce Plans Of President

Terms Of President To Restore Strike Peace Not Received Favorably

DECISION MEETING SET FOR SATURDAY

DETROIT, Dec. 4.—(INS)—The center of the General Motors, UAW CIO wage dispute shifted to Pittsburgh today where UAW President R. J. Thomas and vice-president Walter Reuther conferred with CIO President Phillip Murray.

Both UAW leaders denounced President Truman's terms under which the Chief Executive hopes to restore peace and terminate the nation-wide blockade. They added that a decision on the White House request is being left to the rank-and-file.

To Meet In Detroit

The UAW-CIO completed plans meanwhile for an emergency session of 200 delegates from 94 struck GM plants in 21 states to begin in Detroit at 10 a. m. Saturday.

The delegates will make recommendations to local union presidents to accept or reject Truman's proposal to end the two-week-old walkout.

The latter will vote on them Sunday, as required by the union constitution, before the strike can be called off.

There was no indication whether the delegates would recommend ending the strike by 200,000 General Motors employees, but high union officials strongly denounced the President's proposal for a fact-

Speedy Action On President's Program Seen

House Committee To Rush Legislation Requested In Strike Situation

SEEK TO FORESTALL FUTURE STRIKES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(INS)—The house military affairs committee prepared today to give President Truman all he asked for—and more—in the way of legislation to stop the wave of strikes and lockouts that have impeded the nation's industrial reconversion program.

With lightning speed, the committee's drafting leaders—Republican as well as Democrats—planned to craft the president's recommendations into law and bring the matter to the floor for a vote possibly late this week.

Speedy action was expected despite the opposition of labor to Mr. Truman's proposals which would in effect, forestall strikes or lockouts for 30 days while a panel of seven or more persons studied the facts in the controversy and made a report of its findings and recommendations.

Rep. May D. K. chairman of the military affairs committee said he was prepared to add the chief executives' recommendations that the bill restricting case Smith-Connally anti-strike law.

Democratic and Republican committee members left little doubt that their chairman had struck a sympathetic chord and that a majority of the committee would support the move.

Can Be Rushed

Under an unusual parliamentary situation in the house, the president's proposals for labor laws similar to the military mobilization act can be brought up for a vote in the lower body any time after Wednesday.

Right of way for the bill repealing the Smith-Connally law had already been granted by the rules committee and the provision that only the bill restricting case Smith-Connally anti-strike law can be considered during debate on the bill.

Jap Cabinet May Resign

Latest Suspected War Criminal List May Cause Japanese Upheaval

NAMING PRINCE CREATES BIG STIR

TOKYO, Dec. 4.—(INS)—The possibility was heightened today that the Japanese cabinet may resign as a bitter result of Gen. MacArthur's latest suggested war criminal list.

MacArthur's action in naming for arrest 40 prominent Japanese, including a royal blooded head man, and his cabinet members, set off a state of uneasiness among Japanese politicians.

Right To Keep Arms

Police Commissioner Wallander of New York City professes to be deeply concerned about the present crime wave which is sweeping the metropolis from one end to the other as La Guardia prepares to turn the majority over to his successor.

One of Commissioner Wallander's chief concerns is "the unknown but large number of firearms of all descriptions in the hands of all classes of our citizenry." He is particularly intent upon the removal of firearms from the possession of citizens who hold them illegally.

In New York state it is necessary to have a permit to possess firearms which can be concealed on the person. This law, which was passed by the legislature because of reigns of terror caused by New York City's large foreign population, is violated by many citizens, knowingly or unknowingly.

But it is easy to disagree with Commissioner Wallander that the way to correct the situation is to remove all handguns from those who hold them illegally. Many veterans and other persons of good repute have guns and may not know they need permits for them to conform to the law. In their cases it would seem better to enable them to comply with the regulations and legalize their possession of these weapons than to take them away from them.

A crook who wants a gun can always get it. A gun in the possession of an honest citizen is no menace to law and order.

Furthermore, it must be remembered that guns in the hands of the citizenry is an American tradition. It is a right guaranteed by the Constitution, although too many efforts have been made to abridge the guarantee. One result of such efforts is the fact that an amazingly large percentage of men who entered the Army in World War II knew nothing whatever about handling firearms and consequently required much longer training.

Commissioner Wallander says he is not proposing a drive of any kind but wants "the establishment of a sensible policy and the necessary application of that policy." Many Americans who do not find it necessary to reside in crime-ridden New York City would like to see that, too—particularly a policy which bears out the constitutional provision that the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed.

Citizens Who Can't Vote

Residents of the Nation's capital cannot be blamed for renewing their demand for the right to vote at a time when our government and people are deeply concerned over denials or limitations of democratic principles in other lands.

Their cause has just received strong support from President Truman who asserts that no law-abiding American citizen, even Washingtonians, should be deprived of the franchise.

The district government now is lodged in Congressional committees whose members are not responsible to the local taxpayers. The only way a Washingtonian can vote for a president, senator or representative is to maintain a legal residence elsewhere. This anomaly should be removed.

A Sensible Saving

From the House Appropriations committee comes the first step to take the government out of the business of financing strike votes. The committee voted to cancel all funds enabling the National Labor Relations Board to conduct strike elections.

At the cost of 40 cents for each worker polled the NLRB was running up a large expense account, as thousands of workers from the big unions had to be counted. NLRB complained that all its other activities had to be curtailed, for its staff was swamped with an outside task which was imposed on it by the Smith-Connally Act.

The Federal Government's expense might have been justified had the measure curbed strikes. The thousands of dollars of the taxpayers' money would have been a cheap price to pay for industrial peace. But the Smith-Connally bill neither curbed nor lessened strikes; it facilitated them by encouraging strike votes at government expense.

It is not even certain that government-financed strike polls expressed the will of the workers. Many union members did not cast ballots, and those who did vote in favor of a strike may have intended to support their union rather than to stop work.

Congress will do a good day's work when it follows the lead of the Appropriations committee in repealing this provision of a hastily passed law.—Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

Going Home To What?

Announcement that most of the German prisoners of war held in the United States will be returned to Germany in the next few months poses the question as to what they are going "home" to.

They will find a far different Germany than the one they knew. They doubtless will encounter privation, and for many what before the war were their homes will have been broken up. They will realize how they were betrayed by Hitler and his gang.

Since these men were brought to the United States as prisoners they have been sustained like human beings ought to be, something Germany did not do for its captives. They have experienced American observance of the rules of common decency. They have been far removed from the horrors of warfare.

Many of the prisoners have made themselves useful in the cultivation and processing of foodstuffs produced by the soil. They have helped to make up for the shortage of labor caused by millions of Americans being called into the armed services or leaving the farms to work in war industries.

These Germans have learned from experience and observation that the United States is what Hitler tried to make them believe it was not. The hope is that they have been so impressed by the fair treatment they received that they will exert their influence in behalf of the program to educate the German people in the principles of right living and consideration for the rest of mankind.

Nurses in Tokyo hospitals demand an increase in pay, despite the fact that they now receive $3 a month.

A river winds and winds taking the path of least resistance. Maybe that is the reason it takes a river so long to get anywhere.

Animals are like people. The squirrels get busy and store away their supplies for the winter while the rabbits just hibernate and depend on relief.

The old maid usually is the one who tells us how to raise babies. And then there is Henry Wallace, who tells us how to run industry, and he never manufactured anything in his life—at least, nothing tangible.

WASHINGTON CALLING

by MARQUIS CHILDS

History Is Repeating Itself With Vengeance

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—History is repeating itself with a vengeance. At times you have the impression of watching an old newsreel that shows the same pattern of mistakes and disasters.

Few Americans today remember that after World War I we had an expeditionary force of American soldiers in Siberia. One of America's strangest military ventures, it might well have drawn us into a futile war against the "Reds" that would have proved costly in lives and dollars.

While the parallel with the situation in China today is not by any means exact, it is close enough to be an object lesson for those who would learn from history. In 1919, as in 1945, we were divided over the policy to be followed.

In that earlier time it was the state department that wanted to intervene actively in Russia's civil war. If it had not been for the steadfast integrity of an American commander in Siberia, one of the numerous plots hatched to involve Uncle Sam more deeply in Russia's internal quarrel might have succeeded.

Siberian Adventure
That commander was Major General William S. Graves. Years later, when more of the background information was available, General Graves wrote a book called "America's Siberian Adventure" in which he told the whole story.

Written with the almost transparent honesty of a soldier determined not to cover up mistakes, it states that he was not to intervene in Russia's internal quarrel. It is a fascinating narrative of intrigue.

The Japanese, the British and the French all wanted to get the United States committed to a wholesale war that would have as its objective building down Bolshevism. Every possible means, their representatives tried to get Graves and his command into the scrap.

Without any prior background in diplomacy, the American out-smarted them. This was largely because General Graves, in spite of the propaganda howls about the Bolsheviks, was not deceived as to the facts of what was happening in Siberia.

Japs Had Biggest Stake
The Japanese, of course, had the biggest stake. They had an army of more than 70,000 men in Siberia, in spite of an agreement with the U. S. which said the limit would be 12,000. The Japs hoped to stir up so much trouble that eventually they would end up in full possession of a slice of eastern Siberia including, perhaps, the vital port of Vladivostok.

The Japs were supplying munitions and money to certain notorious Cossack chieftains who were guilty, as Graves was able to prove over and over again, of the most horrible atrocities against the peasants. The British were backing Christian Aid, and the French were backing the Bolsheviks.

At the very time Kolchak's armies were collapsing, with wholesale desertions to the Bolsheviks, U. S. diplomatic representatives in Washington and in the Far East were trying to get our government to recognize the Kolchak regime as the government of Russia.

Aid By Wilson
Woodrow Wilson had sent Graves and his troops to Siberia for the stated purpose of helping a wandering army of Czech-Slovaks get to Vladivostok and from there across the Pacific and home. The instructions handed Graves by Secretary of War Newton D. Baker specifically said he was not to intervene in any way in Russia's internal quarrel.

Graves stuck to his instructions and used his troops only to guard the Trans-Siberian railroad, over which (Continued on Next Page)

MOTHER COUNSEL

"Let us smile the hurt away!"
So the mother used to say.
When with cut and bruise I came,
And my Nellie said the same.
To our children, day by day,
"Let us smile the hurt away."

As she'd take them on her knee,
This her counsel used to be:
"Be brave and be brave and smile again!
Soon will pass away the pain!
Dry your eyes! Go back to play!
Now you've smiled the hurt away!"

So we move along the years,
Out of laughter into tears;
On the way, encountering care
And the losses all must bear;
Trying, time and time again,
With a smile to hire the pain.

The State Police Say:

At this season of the year many farmers are plowing their fields. In transferring their farm machinery from one field to the other, there is often a large amount of mud deposited on the road from this equipment which creates a very hazardous condition, particularly if it is raining or the road is wet. An additional hazard is present because of this slow moving tractor that may be entering the road from a field or traveling on the highway just over the brow of a hill. Motorists are cautioned to be on the alert for this situation by observing newly plowed fields in the distance.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 4:54. Sun rises tomorrow 6:47.

A half baked man can cook up some messy ideas.

Sometimes the best gam is to lose.

TRANSFORMING LABOR INTO MANAGEMENT

Have you ever heard of anyone making a solid substantial success—anyone possessing skill and tact, industry and imagination who did not work overtime to accomplish his objective.

Answer that one.
If a thoroughly capable man should start out to make a success and begin by measuring his work to his pay or his reward, that man would always be a few feet behind his opportunity or several lines behind success.

Overcoming success calls for overtime, morning, noon, night and midnight study and preparation is the price we pay for solid substantial success.

If you are not willing to work overtime, you'll always remain with the piece workers.

You can't put things across by getting cross.

The customer is always right until the bill is overdue.

QUERY QUADRUPPLICATE
Wonder if England ever heard the headline that it is more blessed to give than to receive?

On the other hand, if we stopped all immigration for ten years, where would we get the people to do the hard work?

Could it be that the CIO workers who went out on a strike at the zipper plant expect to be paid on a sliding scale?

Have you ever noticed that after a man succeeds in putting one kiss on a girl's lips it's easy to run off a large edition?

If you can't make light of your troubles keep them in the dark.

As you eat, so do you sleep.

Probably nothing is harder to control than dishonesty.

ANSWERING CURIOUS CYNR
Too many of us spend much of our life having a good time and two-thirds of it wishing we hadn't been such a fool.

One reason why man is inferior is because he can't talk and listen at the same time.

He who only hopes, is hopeless.

Great Game Of Politics

By FRANK R. KENT
(Copyright 1945)
By The Baltimore Sun

Some Of Prospects For 1948 Election

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Among Democrats in Washington who habitually operate on the low level of practical politics (and there are a great many) genuine pessimism is beginning to be felt over party prospects for the 1946 and 1948 campaigns. There are several sound reasons for this.

ONE IS the increased resentment in the country toward labor unions—particularly the CIO and its Political Action Committee, with which the Democrats are tightly allied. Another is the failure (there is no other word for it) of Mr. Truman's Labor-Management Conference which increases belief that as it seems impossible for labor and management to reach agreement it becomes the business of the Government to find some means to protect the public against strikes which threaten the security and happiness of the people generally.

A THIRD reason is the growing popular conviction that the extreme pro-union policies of the Roosevelt Administration, and to which Mr. Truman still adheres, have not worked out for the general good and that the time has arrived when the one-sided legislation on the statute books should be corrected. That feeling should be stronger against the CIO than the other labor factions is due first to the fact that the CIO leaders are the most violent and articulate.

Second, the CIO is the only labor group which the Roosevelt Administration formed a political alliance, continued by Mr. Truman.

THOUGHTFUL men are not surprised at this situation. It seemed inevitable that when the labor people would be fed up with the excesses of these professional labor leaders and turn against the party in which they have achieved dominance. Evidence of this is seen in recent action of the House, despite efforts of Administration leaders in putting forward a bill designed to compel unions to adhere to their contract, in keeping them from financial participation in politics and to prevent interference with interstate shipments of goods.

SEVERAL things are true about the measure. It is the most drastic regulatory proposal made in a long time. It is opposed by the CIO and is not being opposed by either Mr. John L. Lewis or the AFL. (3) Its chances at the moment seem better than ever. Clearly if this bill goes through Mr. Truman will have to make an important decision. If he vetoes it, he will offend the CIO leaders, their unions and spokesmen, with whom his political agent, the not very smart Mr. Robert Hannegan, has tied himself and the Administration. But if he vetoes it, he publicly proclaims himself as subservient to the Messrs. Murray and Hillman.

THOUGH, concededly, the choice would be a painful one, there are several reasons the President is expected not to veto the CIO pressure, either to veto the bill or, as the late Mr. Roosevelt did with similar legislation, use his personal influence to kill it in the Senate Committee. This bill is largely based on the fact that in the last few months the CIO has so much public esteem that some of the most astute politicians regard complete identification with it today as more of a liability than an asset. Certainly it is true that the bawling tactics, the shrill charges and claims and the obvious disregard of the national interest in their quest for greater wages which characterize these CIO leaders, has revealed many people who were more or less sympathetic about Government support in the early Roosevelt days and during the war. The resentment today, cumulative and so strong that many believe an open subversion of the kind Mr. Roosevelt so often showed—and got away with—easily might prove politically fatal to Mr. Truman.

IN BRIEF, the country is becoming increasingly intolerant of the CIO's Political Action Committee and its puppet leaders. They have overplayed their hand, overestimated the patience of the American people and their own importance. With the other labor factions anxious to see them come a cropper and hostility in Congress at a new high, they have themselves created a situation where it should be possible for the President to stand against them in the public interests without fear of political damage.

It should be clear to Mr. Truman that he has no alternative save to support him. They have gone far into the Democratic party and committed themselves so deeply that they appear hooked. Time and time again they have proclaimed themselves anti-Republican. Only very foolish Republicans believe it worth while to bid for their support. The truth is that both parties, though still afraid, are sick of being "ridden" by the CIO lobby and would welcome any opportunity to get rid of it. The pending bill seems to offer a chance to do so.

Hints On Etiquette

It is customary to wear the wedding ring first on the finger and the engagement ring above it. At the ceremony the engagement ring is removed and the wedding ring put on, then the engagement ring is put on above it.

Like many a human being the atom, it seems, has to be busted before it will go to work.

Third Labor Federation Held Unlikely
John L. Lewis Blast Is Held Just Talk
Auto Changes To Alter Price Structures

By HELEN ESSARY
(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Labor observers believe that John L. Lewis' talk about the formation of a third labor federation of independent unions is just talk and nothing else. Such an idea has been circulated at various intervals for months and the United Mine Workers' president always has combated coldly about the idea.

Now, however, with Lewis digging for readmission to the AFL, there may be an advantage for him in appearing to be interested in organizing a rival federation. It might be a good bargaining weapon, because the AFL really is painfully that Lewis built the CIO not so many years ago.

No Action On Atomic Control
There will be no action at this session of congress on legislation for the control of atomic energy. The House military affairs committee has reported on a bill but it is not expected to be passed this session.

Strong opposition has developed in the House to the proposed legislation. A group of scientists who worked on the atomic bomb are campaigning against the bill. They think it would place scientific research in a strait-jacket.

Congressional opinion has shifted toward the idea that action taken now on atomic energy control would be hasty and unimpeccable and that the question of international cooperation first should be thoroughly explored.

Don't take too seriously OPA statement that new car prices will be held to January, 1946, level.

Generally speaking, OPA is anxious to get out from under the burden of price control.

But this is the reason OPA has made allowance for adjustments in design and engineering specifications.

This means that 1946 models, which differ in design and characteristics, will be higher priced. OPA has permitted the industry to boost its costs and therefore prices to cover these changes.

Most cars are expected to incorporate some changes in design and new features. This will alter the price structure set by OPA somewhat for the various manufacturers.

The Parent Problem

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph. D.

YOUTHFUL CAR DRIVING DANGERS

Published facts clearly reveal that the adolescent youth is usually a dangerous driver. He could be the safest driver. His vision, hearing, mental alertness and ability to make quick reactions usually are impaired. What he so often lacks is a sense of responsibility, especially when other people are in the car.

Many parents make the grave mistake of allowing their child to begin driving at a too early age, even before the child has the courage of their convictions, but surrendering to the youngster's argument that other children are allowed to drive, many parents will be a source of shame as well as a source of worry while the parent even alive.

Low Driving Age
Unfortunately, in some states the driving age is as low as 14 years. In such a case a parent might as well give a few years for his child. Certainly it is advisable not to let the youngster have the car until he is at least 16 years old.

How safe a driver the youth will become alone will depend largely on how safe a driver he has learned to be while driving with his parents. Most parents in the past have been too lenient in this regard.

This mistake usually causes the youngster to know more or less, and more dangerous.

Whenever your boy or girl drives with you, make clear to him the speed limit and the proper caution he shall observe. Warn him to observe on the first offense. Next time command him to stop the car and leave the keys in your hand.

Be sure the child is not only a safe driver, but also a safe person. Do something and stop up for the country of all and the common sense of the state.

Youth Buying Cars
The lowest amount the law from 14 to 18 has to be a job so as to buy a car, even to quit school for this purpose. Many youngsters get part-time jobs or so-called summer jobs, but a car, probably an old, old, old, will be a public menace and a moral hazard to the youth. With very few exceptions, a youngster has no more sense than a child when it comes to buying a car.

Now he can't own a car or get a license to drive it without the signature of his parents or guardian. Why will parents attach their signatures to papers when they know their child is not a safe driver?

Many parents, including widows, are doing so, probably making the first payment for the car and paying for the gas and upkeep. How many of these parents are sorry afterwards?

Talk to know any county judge and you will learn that many youngsters, not a few of them from the so-called best homes, have been allowed to buy a fancy, easily stolen, fast car, and the like of engine in all sorts of dishonest practices.

True, many parents have completely lost control over their teenage children. Yet any parent can refuse to sign papers permitting a child to own a car or secure a driver's license.

Another phase of the problem is the fact that if we send our children to school, we are liable to create domestic shortages which, with the advent of unpreparedness, buying power at home will tend to shift commodities prices upward and, if most certainly, produce serious economic conditions.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

You have probably read that the Truman-Clegg committee has taken some steps and come some way toward the solution of Europe and Asia on the ground that "American hands are abroad in the matter." It is a statement that is not only a statement of fact, but also a statement of opinion.

Nothing in my opinion could be a more mistaken view than the American public would have of the wrong impression of the world.

Of all our institutions the only one that is not a part of the American scene is the world.

Why do you think the world is a more peaceful and happy place than it was a few years ago? Why do millions and millions of men and women and children all over the world and in every part of the world are suffering and dying?

On the other hand, the world is a more peaceful and happy place than it was a few years ago. Why do millions and millions of men and women and children all over the world and in every part of the world are suffering and dying?

But the world is a more peaceful and happy place than it was a few years ago. Why do millions and millions of men and women and children all over the world and in every part of the world are suffering and dying?

Who do you think is the cause of the world's troubles? Who do you think is the cause of the world's troubles?

Westminster Professor Addresses
Ministers On 'China's Return
To Sovereignty'

At the bi-weekly meeting of the New Castle Ministerial Association, held in the First Presbyterian church, North Jefferson street, Monday, Dr. J. W. Creighton, professor at Westminster college, presented an able address on 'China's Return to Sovereignty' to the assembled ministers.

Dr. Creighton gave his views on the Communist party in China in connection with Chiang-kai-shek, stating that 'sovereignty is the supreme power of any country and that power lies in the people. China, to succeed, must have a two party system.'

The address closed with an open forum, at which time the ministers queried the professor, a former missionary to China, on subjects relative to China's relationship to the United States and Britain.

Miss Margaret White, executive secretary of the Y.W.C.A., introduced Miss Marion Ochampaugh, new program director of the Girl Reserves and business and industrial girls' activities.

Rev. O. J. Warnath closed the meeting with the benediction.

WASHINGTON REPORT

combat airplane which played a vital part in winning the second world war will suffer as the result of interest in guided missiles such as Germany's buzz-bomb.

More conservative experts in both the War and Navy departments insist that the United States should continue to improve propeller and jet-driven aircraft, which require crews, until such time as this nation is sure she has the complete answer to push-button warfare.

These sources feel that even the "brass hats" in the Army Air Forces are swinging too far in the direction of weapons which seem creations of another world.

Several members of the House military affairs committee almost suffered a stroke during Adm. Ernest J. King's testimony on compulsory military training in peacetime.

It happened when Rep. Leslie Andrews (R., of Illinois), minority whip, asked King what the Navy's part in the proposed program would cost.

"Approximately $260,000 a year," King retorted.

There was a concerted gasp, and a hurried naval aide rushed up to whisper in the admiral's ear.

King turned bristled with embarrassment, then corrected his estimate to $260,000,000 a year.

"What a relief," quipped Andrews. "We haven't heard anything about a figure as small as 260 thousands in 13 years."

Sergeant Dean Writes From Pacific

Mrs. Lydia Green, matron of the Margaret L. Henry Home for Children, has received an interesting letter from one of her "boys." First Sgt. Johnny Dean, who is now stationed on Pohnpei Island in the Palau group of the Pacific.

Sgt. Dean was reared in the Henry Home and some years ago joined the United States Marines. For a time he was stationed in New Castle as the recruiting officer and later was assigned to active duty.

He served in some of the hottest fighting in the Pacific, and after Japan folded was stationed near Tokyo.

Sgt. Dean asks about his friends in New Castle and says he expects to be home some time next year. A leap assigned to him he named "Ma Green" and he says he thinks it brought him luck, as he came through unscathed.

What People Say

(By International News Service)
SCHENECTADY — Dr. Irving Langmuir, Nobel prize chemist, "Any nation that can afford to go to war could make atom bombs if it wanted to do so."

WASHINGTON — Secretary of War Robert Patterson: "Nothing can be permitted to jeopardize the victory we have won. Firm military control over the enemy must be continued until disarmament is complete and the industry and civil institutions of the defeated nations are purged of menace to world peace."

WASHINGTON — Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz: "It is only common everyday horse sense for us to remain the known, proved, naval advantage we so laboriously constructed."

the Czechs would have to travel. Even so, American lives were lost at the hands of the Cossack bandits backed by Japan.

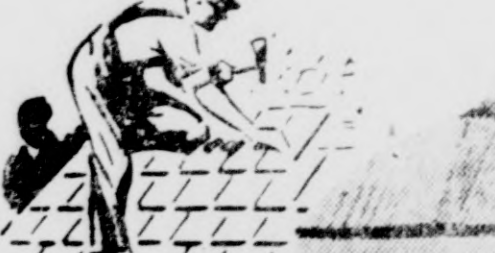

I was not surprised, but none the less gratified," General Graves wrote in conclusion, "that the American officers and enlisted men were almost to a man, firm believers in the traditional policy of the United States, as old as its government itself, that all countries should settle their own differences without interference of the United States policy. Misrepresentations of the American troops, as well as the cry of 'Bolshevism' did not swerve the American officer or soldier from his conception of what was right and just."

Back home, of course, there were newspapers and public officials who were denouncing Graves for his failure to join in the crusade against Bolshevism. That it would have been a futile crusade, because of the historical background and that led up to Russia's civil war, Graves knew very well. He refused to budge and he had the backing all along of his chief of staff, General Peyton C. March, who was equally steadfast in spite of an intrigue between military intelligence in the war department and the state department.

It's too bad that Graves' book is out of print. A great many Americans today could read that record of an honest soldier with profit.

Car Owners Report:
PREWAR PERFORMANCE
AND BETTER FROM
U. S. ROYALS

Since Pearl Harbor "U. S." scientists have made as much progress in applying synthetic materials to tire manufacture as had been made in the previous three decades with natural rubber.

Result—car owners are sending in reports from every section of the country that they are getting prewar performance and better from their U. S. Royals.

From tire dealers, tire service men and tire engineers, men who have made tires their life work, the evidence piles up—U. S. Royals are out in front in mileage, in safety, in all-round performance.

Follow this plan to get your U. S. Royals:

- Go to your U. S. Royal Dealer today for a thorough tire inspection.
- If you are in urgent need of new tires, he will show you how to get them at the earliest possible moment.
- If your need is not immediate, he will use his expert knowledge of tire care to keep your car on active duty until new U. S. Royals are available.
- The quickest way to get new U. S. Royals is to register your tire needs with your U. S. Royal Dealer now.

City Budget Is Presented

Tax Millage Of 13, Same As Present Year Is Imposed For 1946

SOME EQUIPMENT TO BE REQUIRED

When council met Monday in city hall, Finance Director Albert Hoyland presented a tentative budget appropriating $772,835 for the operation of the city during 1946 and another bill imposing a tax levy of 13 mills, which is the same millage as in effect this year. The appropriation provides a 40 cents per day increase for all hourly workers and approximately $1040 for all salaried employees. The measures were referred to committee and will be passed finally January 3, council indicated.

The revenue will be derived thru the 13 mills tax levy on real estate valuation of approximately $48,000,000 plus, possibly, a $2,000,000 personal or occupational valuation. In the $772,835 is $59,900 for capital outlay, of which $24,000 will be required for new pumps and other machinery at the sewage disposal plant and the balance in new motor equipment to replace city motorized units now nearly obsolete, council reported.

Millage Provided

The millage is divided as follows: General revenue 11-4 mills, sinking fund 1-4 mills and library board, one-half mill.

On the face of the millage announcement, the millage for general revenue will be 11-4, or one-quarter higher in 1946 than in 1945. However, it was stated that in 1945, the millage for sinking fund was 1-4 mill. The council cut down the sinking fund millage for 1946 to 1-4 but took the other quarter mill and tacked it to the millage for general revenue, hence there actually is no raise in millage as the library millage remains at 1/2 mill.

Budget Presented

Finance Director Hoyland's tentative budget as presented today shows appropriations as follows:

Protection of persons and property, $270,789.

Health and sanitation, $134,979.

Highways, $181,808.

Recreation, $58,375.20.

Miscellaneous, $20,660.

Debt service, $1,000.

Of the $772,835 there was $59,900 appropriated for capital outlay. Council stated that urgent needs were held to a minimum. They explained city modernized equipment has deteriorated badly during war years.

Wage Increase

Finance Director Hoyland explained the body agreed to increase wages because of the increase in the cost of living. Every hourly worker will receive 40 cents per eight-hour day. Salaried employees will receive a monthly increase of $10.40.

The list of tentative appropriations has been placed on the bulletin board in the office of City Clerk C. Ed Brown where it may be scrutinized. Council said that it was there for public consumption and if there are any objections to any of the tentative appropriations the objections may be voiced before January 3, when the legislation for raising the money and spending it next year may be heard.

It is claimed that women write in excess of 40 million letters a day to American newspapers asking about rules of etiquette, beauty aids, the care of babies and affairs of the heart.

In addition to taking tests of the physical condition of hundreds who serve food and drink he directs other activities that keep Pa. New's health good.

Santa Gets Taught Thing Or Two Before Appearing In Public

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—Now even Santa Claus has to go to school, for it seems that a number of street corner Santas have been offending in a few respects.

Col. William R. Apetz, who opened the school at the Bowers Community center of the Volunteers of America, is instructing his red-coated and white-bearded pupils that drinking while on duty is unwise, that eating garlic or onions is harmful to popularity, and that leaning on the miniature chimneys is sloppiness.

Furthermore, says the colonel, Santa should use common sense about riding his bell—it can be done within the bounds of reason. Santa should never argue with mama and papa, and he should never, never, never argue with junior or junior's sister. If he does, they will probably call him a nasty name as soon as Christmas is over.

Physical Exams For 87,000 Children Are Given In Two Months

HARRISBURG, Dec. 4.—(INS)—The state health department reported today that more than 87,000 medical and dental examinations of school children had been made during September and October under the provisions of the school health act.

Approximately 52,000 youngsters had been checked for physical defects, according to Health Secretary Harry W. West, while 35,000 others received dental examinations.

West said plans of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh for conducting programs had been approved. The lack of personnel and equipment has blocked the program in rural school districts, he added.

The overall program was expected to cost $4,000,000 a year.

FREEZE THAT WINTER MEAT SUPPLY

With the approach of cold weather, farm families are planning the best way to preserve the winter meat supply. Many families will be freezing meat this year for the first time. The following ideas will be of help and prevent much meat waste.

1. Allow animal to chill promptly to a temperature just above freezing for 24 hours, at least. This will prevent meat souring in the deep-frozen joints.
2. Plan to use pork, veal and poultry within eight months.
3. Freeze sausage without seasoning (the presence of salt causes fat to become rancid).
4. Do not place frozen fish near meats in a locker.
5. On wrapping meat allow a generous amount of paper to fold in and lap over to prevent freezer burn or the drying out of the meat.

Additional meat freezing information may be obtained upon request. A post card or phone call to the Agricultural Extension Office, 206 Post Office building, New Castle is all that is needed.

Troops Will Pack Holiday Trains

The public will do well to employ some other kind of travel than by train over the Christmas holiday season, Pennsylvania Railroad officials stated today.

The rail accommodations will be jam-packed with heavy troop movements, and the problem will not be lessened until March or later.

We are not telling the public not to travel," said J. J. Pelley, president of the American Association of Railroads, recently, "we are only explaining the conditions that exist and letting the people decide for themselves."

PRR heads also say that the Pullman cars are still a priority for the service men and that persons risking holiday travel will probably have to use the day coaches.

Augustines Hold Postwar Reunion

Three Brothers Meet For First Time Since Entering Service

Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Augustine of this city have returned from the ETO where both were in service but have been discharged since their return to this country.

Mrs. Augustine is the former Miss Mary L. Myers of Girardville, Pa. Mr. Augustine entered service in March '41, served 36 months overseas in Africa and Italy. He holds the good conduct ribbon, a unit citation for meritorious service, and the pre-Pearl Harbor defense ribbon along with the ETO ribbon with two battle stars. Both served with the 24th and 309th general hospitals in Italy.

When they, with Mr. Augustine's brothers, were home recently visiting their mother, Mrs. Denise Augustine of 812 High street, it was the first time the three brothers had met since entering service.

Sgt. Victor J. Augustine has left to return to Camp Boaz, Tex., after a 20-day furlough here. He served six months overseas with the Ninth Army and the British Second Army attached to the field artillery.

Raymond T. Augustine, boat-swain's mate 2-c, the third brother, was also home. Now stationed at Marblehead Coast Guard station, Ohio, he participated in the invasions of Sicily, Anzio and Normandy during 19 months sea duty.

A fourth brother, Pvt. Joseph Augustine, is stationed at Fort Dix, New Jersey.

In 1492 when Columbus embarked from Seville on his first voyage of discovery, his fleet consisted of the Santa Maria, manned by 32 men, the Pinta, manned by 18 men, and the Nina, manned by 13 men, making a total of only 63 men to accompany him on his expedition.

Allegheny Divorces Hit All-Time Peak

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 4.—With an average of 42 suits a day coming in, Allegheny County is headed for a new divorce record in 1945.

Prothonotary David B. Rogers predicts that more than 6,000 divorces will be filed this year. This will be more than half the number of marriage licenses issued.

To date 4,577 divorce suits have been filed which is 1,100 above the previous record of 3,477 in 1941. Novenor figures show 579 suits filed the biggest month in the county's history.

Commenting on the rush to the divorce courts, Mr. Rogers said: "At the rate the judges have been handling down divorces in divorce court, it is reasonable to expect that 1945 will see a new high established. The basis of our civilization is the family, and the continuance of such records is not a healthy outlook for the thing we call our American Way of Life."

When Rome was considered the first city in Europe at the beginning of the Christian Era, the actual number of comedies contained in that city was 1,000,000.

Ever Try Making Cough Syrup in Your Kitchen?

Gives Quick Relief. And It's So Easy! No Cooking.

If you've never tried mixing your own cough medicine, you've missed a lot. It's no trouble—needs no cooking—and gives you about four times as much cough syrup for your money as you can buy in a bottle. You'll find it beats anything you've ever tried for coughs due to colds. And here's how it's done—

Make a plain syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments until it dissolves. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup. Mokey returned if it doesn't please. Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from your grocer in every way.

Gifts For Wounded Servicemen May Be Given To Red Cross

Strings Of Lights, Gifts For Bags Needed For Deshon Hospital, Red Cross Reveals

Because there is a somber undertone in the holiday merrymaking whenever people think of the men still confined to army, navy, or veterans' hospitals, both the Red Cross and the American Legion have taken the responsibility for getting some additional holiday cheer into the patients' wards and rooms.

For those interested in sending gifts to the hospitalized men, the Red Cross has announced the local quota. Included on the list are: 25 cotton bags, each filled with a memo book, a lucite pass case, life savers, pencils, handkerchiefs, talcum powder, toothpaste, stationery, pocket game or puzzle other than ligsaw, chewing gum, and a 25 cent pocket dictionary. The Red Cross is furnishing the 25 bags together with two packs of cigarettes for each bag, but either money or the articles for the gift bags are to be provided by anyone interested in donating a gift.

Besides the bags, the chapter's quota include ten large red stockings for which the Junior Red Cross has donated $20 to fill. Articles still to be provided by private individuals are: five individual gifts for duty personnel, such as a good mechanical pencil, or a cigarette lighter, or good photograph case; three strings of medium size lights; and five boxes of large size colored balls. The three strings of lights are among the most seriously needed, according to Miss Breslin, executive secretary of the chapter.

These gifts must be turned in to the local chapter by December 17, and will then be sent to Butler for distribution in the Deshon hospital.

A coat of white paint on a screen door will serve to make the interior of the home less visible from the outside.

STUMP IS 500,000,000 YEARS OLD

ONE OF THE FEW perfect specimens of its kind, Mrs. Carol Adams of the Illinois State Geological Survey, Urbana, Ill., sits on a fossil of pure bituminous coal—500,000,000 years old. The tree stump was dug out of a bituminous coal mine, and just to prove it, Mrs. Adams holds a chunk of coal which came out of the mine. (International)

Lady Cynthia Poo-Poos Legend House Is Haunted

LONDON, Dec. 4.—(INS)—A ghost a temperamental, sometimes bell-cose, ghost of the flesh-creeping, churchyard-vanishing variety today haunts the Sussex country home of Lady Cynthia Asquith—or so says local legend.

Lady Cynthia, herself a collector and editor of uncanny yarns, doesn't take the ghost seriously and is inclined to be amused and unbelieving about it.

"I haven't heard or seen or felt any disturbing presence," she says. "I hope I don't. It is difficult enough already to get any staff."

Strange Goings On But the locals of Storrington and Washington, nearby village in the fold of the Downs, refuse to treat the matter so lightly.

They shake their heads and confide in conspiratorial undertones that a visitor at "that house" woke up one morning to find herself on the floor with a broken arm.

And that isn't all, they say. A few nights later Lady Cynthia was sleeping in the same room and received a mysterious eye injury.

Surely an angry ghost was on the prowl.

Lady Cynthia admits her sister, Lady Plymouth, fell out of bed and broke an arm while staying at the house.

"At much the same time, in the same room," confesses Lady Cynthia, "I injured my eye in some extraordinary way."

Probably I started the whole thing myself by saying that the local ghost must have attacked us both, or that it didn't want us to sleep in that room, or something of the kind.

"Things like that have a way of getting around, especially when people know I have edited collections of ghost stories. But I have never felt that there was anything supernatural about this house."

Croton Pupils Make Christmas Gifts

The art students of the Croton Avenue Grade school have found a way to "beat the Christmas shopping rush." Rather than wade through the crowded stores, the boys and girls are making many articles of value which will be later presented as Christmas gifts.

The pupils were found quite busy Monday afternoon when a News reporter walked in on them. The scene represented more nearly a general workshop with carpenters, artists and seamstresses all at work in the same room.

In one corner of the class room in charge of Mrs. Morfydd Brown, teacher, reverberated the sound of hammers as youthful workmen were busy making birdhouses, cupboards and other articles which will make welcome inexpensive gifts later on in the month.

At the front of the room an eye-catching display of beautiful hand-painted Christmas cards was neatly arranged. The display, 133 pieces in all, was the gift of Eugene Russell, member of the Shenandoah Pottery.

Each child in the class was given a plain piece of the ware and was left to his or her ingenuity in making the design for the pottery, which are to be Christmas gifts to their parents. The designs are copied on the plate painted, then covered with varnish and silver powder to make them more attractive.

Other objects that were being created by the class included book ends, dolls, napkin holders and stuffed animals.

Wampus Man's Crew Is Cited For Heroism

Sgt. Harold J. Marshall, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Marshall of Wampus, is a member of the tank crew that saw action in the Cagayan Valley, Luzon, Philippines, and received a recent award of the bronze star medal for their deeds.

On June 1, 1945, the tank was spearheading the whirlwind drive of the 37th Infantry up the Cagayan Valley, when it was suddenly struck by four direct hits from a Jap anti-tank gun. Two of the rounds penetrated the tank wounding two of the men. Although the interior of the tank was a chaos of smoke and shell fragments and a threatened explosion of the ammunition supply seemed imminent, the crew realized that should they retire for medical aid and repairs the attack would be materially delayed. The two wounded men and the other crew members, including Sgt. Marshall, courageously remained at their posts and placed fire upon the Jap positions, adding greatly in their quick destruction.

THREE LACKING FORT LEWIS, Wash.—(INC)—Due to receive her discharge soon, WAC Sgt. Lora D. Blake of Claremont, N. H., will remain as a civilian at her same job at the Fort Lewis fiscal audit branch. Comment: the sergeant, 31, had just as thrilled about being a civilian again as I was on coming into the army.

Practically every housewife in this area
COOKS WITH GAS
... and for mighty good reasons!

Those smart women who do such a swell job of housekeeping in your neighborhood overwhelmingly choose to cook with the modern kitchen fuel, Gas. And here are some of the reasons.

ECONOMY—those housewives know a bargain—most homes hereabout can do an entire month's cooking for one dollar, or less. What other fuel can give such matchless economy plus all the other advantages of Gas?

AUTOMATIC CONTROL—Gas is the most precisely controllable of all sources of heat energy in the kitchen. Your meals can be laid out with mathematical precision and your Gas range will do its job, automatically, while you rest or take care of other duties.

EFFICIENCY AND SUPERB RESULTS—The Gas range cooks your meals quickly, effortlessly, without waste or spoilage. And the nutritious dishes that result retain all their natural tastiness and nourishment.

CLEANLINESS—your modern Gas range cooks with a clean, dependable flame that saves you scrubbing and scouring.

OVEN AND BROILER SUPERIORITY—your modern Gas range, with its insulated walls, keeps the heat concentrated on the food, providing greater kitchen coolness and comfort. And you have even heating in all of the oven, because Gas heat is "convected" heat, that insures the same temperature any place in the oven.

University Man Speaker Monday

Economic and Business Foundation
Hears Dr. Morris S. Viteles At Ben Franklin Auditorium

"Foremen are the link between successful management and labor relations," said Dr. Morris S. Viteles of the University of Pennsylvania Monday night, in an address in the Benjamin Franklin Junior high school auditorium. Dr. Viteles, professor of psychology in the University of Pennsylvania and director of personnel research and training for the Philadelphia Electric Company, spoke under the auspices of the Economic and Business Foundation of New Wilmington.

"Prior to World War one," said Dr. Viteles, "it was customary to elect the supervisor or foreman. More recently there has been a vigorous debunking and belittling of supervisory employees. The truth is somewhere between."

"Foremen and supervisors should be trained men, trained to realize their responsibility to the management and trained to deal intelligently with the men under them. Failure to interpret and apply a sound policy will lead to trouble. The foreman is the key man between management and labor. He can build good labor relations or he can create dissension and trouble. It depends upon his training and his own common sense."

City Cowpunchers In Denver Area

DENVER, Dec. 4.—Some folks when riding cattle are credited with a kind of glamorous cowboy reputation in shiny chaps, colorful satin shirts and totting a gun and rope.

In Denver there are a group of men who watch after cattle, but they don't wear the traditional attire. They herd cattle in city locations.

These hat-wearing cowboys are for the cattle at the Denver stock yards. For them there's no bellows or sleeping with the cattle. When the clock rings around the city, they get up and jump into their cars and drive home.

Most of the men have done their share of cowpunching in the open spaces, but on the whole they'll take their present set-up minus the glamour.

The brand inspector does have one of the usual characteristics. He carries ropes—and uses them. Others like to see the cattle's brand until the animal is roped and the ownership tags are stamped away from the branding mark.

Junior Red Cross Menu Covers Win Praise For Pupils

"Among the most outstanding menu covers that have been received in the national office," was the comment of Mrs. Bleeker J. Wilkerson, Junior Red Cross correspondent, in a letter thanking the local Junior Red Cross for the menu covers which they made to be used aboard navy vessels at Christmas dinner.

Addressed to Dr. John A. McEldan, chairman of the Lawrence county JRC, Mrs. Wilkerson's letter stated that the shipment created a sensation when it arrived in the office, and complimented the designs for being original, colorful and humorous.

Nine hundred and nineteen covers were sent from the local chapter through the work of students at Bessemer high school, Lincoln-Garfield school, New Castle senior high and Westminster college. Teachers who supervised the work were Esther Landman, Emma Maxwell, Bess Galey and J. M. Sheridan.

Let's Look at the Wage Record

Leaders of the UAW-CIO have never accused General Motors of paying low wages.

They have not because they could not. GM hourly wage rates are substantially higher than the average for industry in general.

Under these circumstances the wage demands of UAW leaders appear fantastic.

Without offering anything in return, they demand a wage jump that would add 30% to the pay of workers already among the highest paid in the country.

In 1941, the last peacetime year, the average GM factory worker received a wage that put his income among the top one-third of all incomes in the United States—not just labor incomes but all incomes.

The average GM factory worker can buy much more food, clothing and other necessities—as well as more of the comforts of life—than the average industrial worker can.

General Motors has always paid high wages to its employees. It always expects to.

Many Fur Trappers Active In County

Away back when—in the days of the Pilgrim fathers, trapping was quite prevalent among the early citizens of this great country. It was either for food or for a gift, or just to keep out of the way of the table. The corner butcher shop didn't exist in those days.

The art of trapping has not passed with the extinction of those early days in the outdoors. Trapping holds quite an interest in Lawrence county these days, for a number of citizens ranging in age from 14 years up to away past the allotted three score and ten and a few just coming to the men folk but it is surprising the number of young women engaged in the sport.

Fur Is Valuable
Today, the trappers are not so much interested in the meat value of beaver, mink or muskrat, but in the outward adornment that nature has provided the animal with.

Down through the years, the methods of ensuring the successful trapping has not changed materially, as some of the old methods are still in existence today. City dwellers are familiar with the old box trap which was set up to catch a rabbit or a squirrel at the garden during the early gardening season when the plants were ever so tender. These traps were so arranged that when the animal nibbled at whatever bait was in the trap, the box which was arranged to fall at the slightest disturbance, fell on the creature enclosing it but not harming it. The animal was eventually released into the woods.

Methods In Use

Two methods are used today to catch the smaller animals of the woods, these either being the dead fall or the steel trap, the former being the most humane as the animals die almost instantly.

The dead fall consists of a heavy rock or weight that falls on the animal whenever the balance or bait is disturbed.

The steel trap is generally concealed under the grass or shrubs and the animal is caught by the leg, many times breaking the limb, causing much pain to the animal until the trapper comes and kills it.

Animals Caught

The most predominant animals caught in this area consist of the beaver, otter, mink, muskrat, fox, coon, skunk and the opossum, with each animal having its own particular habitat.

The beaver likes to make his homes near the stream and delights in building dams across the stream with its broad web footed feet, making use of them much the same as a plasterer would use a trowel. Traps have to be placed either in the water or nearby. The beaver is rarely caught in Lawrence county but a number are found in the neighboring county of Butler.

The otter, another water-loving animal, resembles its brother the beaver very closely and has to be trapped in much the same manner near the stream.

The mink is found sometimes near the streams, but it can be caught in traps most anywhere in the woods, while the muskrat loves the swamps and also seeks the holes in the hills for his hideout.

Fox Is Being Trapped

Other of the furbearing animals caught in the traps of Lawrence county hunters include the fox which runs in the hills, the skunk, more appropriately tagged the "skunk" and the lovely opossum, the latter two hiding out in holes of the ground.

In an interview with W. H. Thompson, 434 East Washington street, who has been engaged in the fur business for over 50 years, a News reporter opened his eyes with amazement when he discovered that the trapping industry resulted in an average of a five to seven thousand dollar business in the past few years with this season being no exception.

Most of the furs that are collected at the local receiving station find their way into the New York markets and in many instances the local furs find their way back to New Castle to be sold in downtown stores.
